MAJOR SportsMedicine

Professional Sports Medicine: not just for athletes.

A comprehensive orthopedic and musculoskeletal practice, serving people of all ages, is led by Dr. Gregory Howard. Major Sports Medicine takes on the focus of a family practice, providing individualized intense attention to injuries and conditions. The specialty practice thus successfully treats injuries to the muscles, bones and joints – as well as those with long-standing joint pain related to arthritis.

For Dr. Howard's group, surgery represents the last resort. Major Sports Medicine provides diagnostic work-ups that focus on medical and therapeutic solutions to address:

- Muscle sprains & strains
- Muscle & joint injections
- Joint injury
- Exercise prescription
- Fractures
- Weight management
- Arthritis
- Muscle & joint pain

"All patients are part of the treatment decision process at Major Sports Medicine," says Dr. Howard. "We look together at underlying conditions that caused the problem, as well as the condition at hand."
